ANTIQUE BOWL
This is my favourite antique hand-carved jade bowl and wooden stand. It is the perfect objet d'art item that holds my favourite flower - a scented gardenia.

PILLOWS
I adore gorgeous soft furnishings. These are two of my favourite cushions. One is a petit point cushion and the other has silk roses with a message we all need to remember daily.

PAINTING
I'm currently the artist in residence at Atlas Pearls and Perfumes and this artwork on display, titled Driftwood, is one of my favourite works. Surprisingly, it hasn't found a home yet and is waiting for a special owner. This piece has luminous textures and washes, which reflect the beautiful weathered effect of sun and ocean.

ATTIRE AND PRIYA
My Atlas pearls and blue denims are two items I cannot live without. I love the combination of casual and luxury together to form a stunning contrast. My toy cavalier, Priya (which means beloved in Sanskrit) is never far from my side and would certainly win out above all the worldly things I find dear.

SACRED TREASURES
These were collected from all around the world. These icons are precious because they remind me of the divine in all.

SCULPTURE
This buck head sculpture was made by a renowned African artist, Simba, who uses old car wrecks to create these magical, native wildlife renditions.

VINTAGE CAMISOLE AND PERFUME
I just love this second-hand camisole made of pink silk, tulle and Swarovski crystals. It matches perfectly with my new signature perfume Narciso Rodriguez.

CRYSTALS
I love crystals. My most recent purchase was from Lulu & I, my favourite luxury item store in Cottesloe. The Crystal Bible was a recent birthday gift from my mum.
